Description

The Product Liability Act and the CE certification for door hinges (DIN EN 1935) requires us to provide installation instructions including the CE information with each hinge.

Until now, this has been done physically in form of printed installation instructions that are packed with each hinge. Going forward, we aim to eliminate this physical packaging.

In the future, the label or box will display a QR code with a pictogram referring to the installation instructions.

This measure reduces paper waste while ensuring that up-to-date installation instructions and notes are always available.

The hinges 117NN and 117H are switched first as a test. All other hinges will subsequently be switched step by step.
